

Quiz 1/ Version 1

1. What are the rules to make a well-named package? Give an example? (1 mark)
2. Give an example of a static initializer block in a class called Cat? (1 mark)
3. What IS a package? What are the rules for naming a package? Show an example. ( 2 marks)
4. What are three primitive and one reference data type in Java? What are the default values set by Java for each? (3 marks)
5. Create a class called Movie with a title variable; show the constructor; null titles are not allowed. (3 marks)
6. Create a Main class with the main() method and print out the fifth argument. ( 2 marks)

Quiz 1/ Version 2

1. Create a class called BcitCourse. It takes a course number and department (e.g 2522, “comp”) in the constructor. Validate the date properly according to best practices. Write all of the code including JavaDoc comments and getter and setters (as appropriate). Then write a Main class with a main method that creates two BcitCourse objects.(12 marks)